THE THREE ESTATES.

The last fortnight's proceedings of the House of Assembly only show what can be done by a representative body, when it applies itself earnestly to the business of the country. The nine months' incubation days are over, and dispatch has become the order of the day. We congratulate the House on the improvement, and we hope that the spirit which has animated its debates so far will continue to the end of the session. There is really no reason why the present sitting should extend over January. Two months' dispatch will get through all the business, unless indeed some of the old obstacles are thrown in the way by the Upper House. We sincerely hope, however, that no such political catastrophe will happen. The affairs of the country are in too critical a condition to be jeopardized just now by discord in the Government of the country. Next year, under proper management and popular legislation, the colony will more than recover the steps it has lost in the retrogression of the last few years. The mines of the neighboring colony are bound to draw a large population—the country is certain to receive a large addition to its wealth; all it requires to start us on the high road to permanent prosperity is liberal and enlightened legislation. Let the different branches of our Government, therefore, strive to work harmoniously together. It is the true interest as well as the duty of each to do so. The Governor can never do any good to himself, to Her Majesty's Government, or to the country, by placing himself in antagonism to the Lower House; the Council can do even less; and the House of Assembly are really powerless without the co-operation of the other two. We only here speak of the negative quality of hostile attitudes. The positive injury is beyond calculation, especially in our present incipient condition. We would appeal, therefore, to the good sense of all three. We would ask them to discard prejudice and personal feeling and unite harmoniously for the general good. We would ask first of the Assembly to pass such laws as the interest of their constituents demand; but, while standing firm on the principle of their bills, to show more of a willingness to yield on minor and unimportant matters. Of the Upper House we would ask more deference to the opinions of the people's representatives—more of a desire to sink their own peculiar views rather than imperil the passage of a popular measure. The real function of the Upper House, as it is at present constituted, should be not so much the initiation as the supervision of bills. With the Chief Justice and the Attorney General, the responsibility of seeing that the measures which go through the Council will hold water—that they will bear the crucial test of a court of law, and not exhibit the ambiguities and crudities which stick so prominently out in many of the acts that are now on the Statute book. We do not mean, of course, that the Legislative Council should cease the introduction of legislative measures, but we think it would do a great deal more good and come into fewer collisions with the Lower House if it contented itself more with careful supervision, and less with experimental legislation. His Excellency's functions are more varied than the other two, but on that account they require the greater care. He represents two interests that ought to be harmonious, but which are very often embittered and rendered discordant. It is, however, in his power, through the exercise of ordinary prudence, to make the colonial and the Imperial interests one. It is in his power to see that popular aspirations, when legitimate, become engrafted on the Government of the country. It is, in fact, in his power to throw oil on the troubled waters of politics, to impart harmony to the relations of the Upper and Lower Chambers, and to aid every project for improving the condition of the country. Let the three estates to which we have just alluded adopt some such principles as we have here roughly laid down, and we shall have more practical laws, more dispatch in public business, and more general confidence in the future of the colony.

FISHERIES.

There was a large attendance of the "fancy" last night in the theatre to witness the sparring exhibition given by Baker, the Canadian "Pet," with his pupils and other "muscular Christians." The two were placed across the stage to prevent contact with the stage lights. The first to step inside the ring in correct fighting "undress" were two pupils of the "pugilistic professor," who kept up a spirited contest for some time, and were followed by several volunteers, who received their adversaries "mauleys" (to use the slang of the P. R.) on their "snuff repositories" with great complacency and good humor some of the strangers seemed considerably skilful in the "manly art." The final wind-up between Baker and the "Unknown," who was properly termed "Great," being a giant compared with the "Pet," was very scientific and afforded much gratification. Baker is a clever boxer, and although he is not a powerful and formidable opponent, succeeded in protecting his own "cock" with admirable dexterity, while he frequently "got home" upon his antagonist's "kissing trap" and "bean box." They were loudly cheered at the wind-up, when Baker took off his gloves and danced a jig in first rate style.

LORD MOSLEY, Governor General of Canada, on his visit to his home in the County of Wicklow, Ireland, met with a most cordial reception from his tenants and neighbors, with whom he has always been most popular. A delegation waited upon his lordship at his beautiful estate, Charleville, headed by the Right Hon. Mr. Justice Keogh and the Right Hon. the Attorney General, and presented him with a handsome address complimenting him especially on his having "at a critical period of our history, taken the opportunity of the vast possessions entrusted to his rule, conciliated the attachment and loyalty of all classes of Her Majesty's subjects; and whilst upholding the supremacy of the law, fostered peace and successfully maintained amicable relations with the neighboring States."

LORD MILTON TO BE MARRIED.—The terms of a matrimonial alliance are, I understand, arranged between Lord Milton, M.P. for the South Western division of Yorkshire, and Miss Chichester, the daughter of the Hon. Lord Edward Chichester, Dean of Raphoe; the young lady is, consequently, niece of the Marquis of Douglas. Lord Milton is a very popular young nobleman, and his narrative of the North-West passage (overland), which he accomplished, in company with a friend, in the year 1850, has been one of the most remarkable and interesting books of the day. He is the eldest son of Earl Fitzwilliam (whose vast estates in Yorkshire and Ireland made him one of the wealthiest members of the House of Peers). Having been one of the early settlers here, he has in his twenty-seventh year.—London Correspondent of Belfast News-Letter.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Thomas Patrick, an old and well-known resident, died somewhat suddenly yesterday at half-past one o'clock at the house of Mr. Williams, where he was residing. He had previously been suffering from rheumatism, but was walking about on Thursday, apparently nearly recovered. The immediate cause of death is said to be apoplexy. Dr. Trimble attended the deceased during his last moments. Mr. Patrick had recently returned from a visit to England, and had been one of the early settlers here, he succeeded in placing himself in comfortable circumstances.

DANCING CLASSES.—Mrs. D. Palmer will resume her winter evening Dancing Classes for Ladies and Gentlemen, on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, at 8 o'clock. The class for children will be held on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, at half past three o'clock. The school will meet at Mrs. D. Palmer's residence, on Douglas street, corner of Port street. Mr. Palmer presides at the piano-forte for both classes. Terms per month—Adults, $5; juveniles, $3; Private Lessons, $8.

SPANISH AND FRENCH CLASSES.—Mons. B. Delfis, Graduate of the Academie de Paris, has opened classes in Spanish and French. The Spanish class meets, at 7 o'clock, p.m., on the evenings of Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; and the French class on the evenings of Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. Parties desirous of learning Spanish or French will do well to join the classes with out delay, as the basis of these useful languages are laid down in the first lessons. Private lessons given if desired. Mons. B. Delfis may be found at his residence, next door to the Colonial office, Langley street.

GOLD.—It is a curious coincidence that whilst the precious metal is reputed to be so scarce in our little community, at Victoria House, corner of Port and Douglas streets, they seem to be perfectly lavished with it, for not only are their Bonnets and Hats trimmed with gold, but you see gold on their Mantles, gold on their Dresses, and gold on everything. The reason of this, we are told, is that gold ornaments are all the fashion in Europe, and consequently all the articles received lately have been trimmed with them. Ladies should call at the establishment above named and see these pretty new goods, just received by express.

DRESS CLOTHING FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—A. J. Bruhn has received extra fine white American Dress Shirts, with Byron collars, and puff bosoms; plain do. without collars, and for studs. Also, fine dark and black French Cassimere Hats, which he offers to the public at low prices, together with his large assortment of fashionable-made clothing, Naval Gold Lace Badges and Uniform Caps, at Bruhn's Store, Government street, next to O'Connell's Restaurant, near Port street.

CHEAP GOODS.—Heavy Tweed pants at $2 87½, and woollen cord pants at $3 at J. H. Brown's, Government street, opposite the Chronicle office.

THE RAM STONEWALL.

It can no longer be denied that matters still look equally for the maintenance of peaceful relations with England. Arbitration, as proposed by Mr. Adams, may settle the question in the amicable manner most to be desired, but Earl Russell's attitude is certainly anything but friendly. In a manner that might be designated as at once haughty and paternalistic, he has thus written to Secretary of State: "Her Majesty's Government are the guardians of their own honor. They cannot admit that they may have acted with bad faith in maintaining the neutrality they professed. The law officers of the Crown must be held to be better interpreters of a British statute than any foreign Government can be presumed to be. Her Majesty's Government must, therefore, decline either to make reparations for the capture of the ship, or to refer the question to any foreign State.—Oreanion.

THE RAM STONEWALL.—The World's special, speaking of the trip of the Stonewall for the education of the Congress-Craven committee, says that the trip was ten miles an hour, which is by no means her maximum speed. She seemed to be very formidable. Her ram projects 25 feet from the bow and lies eight feet under water. After the trial the general impression seemed to be that Commodore Craven exercised some discretion in not attacking her. Had the Niagara's guns failed to make an impression on the ram, probably the result would have been the sinking of the Niagara by the latter's ram. The Stonewall is to be hauled into the stream and a gun of 32 calibre is to be fired at her at a distance approximating that between her and the Niagara at the time Commodore Craven declined to attack her.

TESTIMONIAL TO AN AMERICAN SHIP CAPTAIN.—A presentation which deserves particular mention, took place at the British Consulate yesterday afternoon. Captain Norton, of the American ship Ella Norton, received at the hands of W. Lane Booker, Esq., H. B. M. Consul at this port, an elegant and valuable gold watch and guard, presented, as the inscription thereon expresses, "By the British merchants and ship owners of San Francisco as a token of their admiration for his gallant conduct in rescuing the survivors of the British barque Heather Bell when dismantled and on the point of foundering on the 10th of August, 1865, in latitude 40° 30' south, and longitude 123° 30' west, and for his successful efforts to those who presented it, will be regarded with a just and commendable pride by the recipient.—Alta.

GREAT HOLIDAY SALE.—Messrs. J. P. Davies & Co. will hold an extensive sale to-day, at 11 o'clock, of some of the most valuable goods that have ever been offered at auction in this city, comprising fancy goods in great variety, all suitable for presents; rich silver plated ware, a splendid assortment of ladies' and gentlemen's gold and silver watches, plain and enamelled; jewelry, fancy clocks, glassware, looking glasses, china ware, furs, etc. The goods are open to inspection and will be sold at the lowest possible price for the convenience of ladies who are expected to attend this sale, the auctioneers have fitted up a room for their special accommodation, and will moreover minister to their comfort with cake and wine.

THE HILL DIGGINGS AT LERCH.—From further inquiries instituted yesterday respecting the reported discovery of hill diggings near Bacon Bar, Leech River, we are warranted in pronouncing the report reliable. Two men working in the stratum of blue slate gravel, where the gold was found, made $20 in one day. The discovery was made on the opposite side to where operations have been carried on and to the line of survey for the projected ditch, an important fact, as it establishes almost beyond a doubt the existence of good and extensive hill diggings on both sides of the river. All together the news which has reached Victoria of late from the east and west is calculated to inspire confidence in these times of misgiving and despondency.

ERRATUM.—An error has accidentally crept into our report of Mr. DeCosmos' speech about the road to Nanaimo, we say that there were several ridges on the route that needed removal. "And there were only twelve miles in anything like good condition" it should read,—"there were only twelve miles of road from Sayward's sawmill to the mouth of the river, and there were several places where bridges should be built." Unless honorable members provided better accommodation for reporters, they must expect mistakes in the report of their proceedings.

THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL met yesterday at 3 p.m. Present.—The Hon. Chief Justice presiding, Hon. Colonial Secretary, Attorney General, Treasurer, Surveyor General, R. Finlayson and H. Rhodes. The Postal Service Bill was introduced by the Attorney General and passed the first reading. The Council then went into Committee on the Small Debt Bill. The Hon. Mr. Rhodes in the chair, and Mr. Finlayson in the seat. The bill was then reported progress, and Council adjourned.

THE PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP CO. has fifteen steamers on the Atlantic side and ten on the Pacific. In addition to these the Company have two steamers of 4000 tons building for the China mail service. The total tonnage of the whole fleet amounts to 58,965.

PUT BACK.—The bark Kent, Captain Nauman, which sailed on Thursday for Burrard's Inlet, put back into Royal Roads yesterday, having failed to reach her destination, owing to the head being obscured by the snow storm.

TO BE WOUND UP.—His Honor the Chief Justice yesterday directed that the Fucus Straits Coal Mining Co. Limited be wound up in bankruptcy, and appointed Mr. Adamson Official Liquidator.

ARLINGTON FARM.—Mr. Fry's valuable stock of horses, pigs, bulls, &c., with the whole of the farming implements and root crops will be sold by Mr. McCrea to-day at noon. Stages leave Bowman's stables for the sale at 7 a.m.

FOR NEW WINTERWEAR.—The steamer Enterprise yesterday took a few passengers and a small freight for Fraser river. Should any impediment be offered by ice in the river, she will proceed to Burrard's Inlet.

SKATING.—A good deal of snow fell during Thursday night and yesterday morning upon the frozen ground, affording tolerable sleighing to the lovers of that out of door exercise.

FOR PUGET SOUND.—The steamer Eliza Anderson sailed yesterday morning with passengers and freight for Olympia and way ports.

CHIEF JUSTICE NEEDHAM has removed to the late residence of Admiral Denman at Esquimalt.

During the recent fire at Constantinople the printing office of a journal published in the Turkish language by Mr. Churchhill, an English subject, was swallowed up in the flames. The Turkish Government is about to order a reprint of the work, and there is the necessary printing cost, and presents them as a free gift to Mr. Churchhill.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, DEC. 15. The House met at 11:15 p.m. Members present:—The Speaker, Messrs. DeCosmos, Powell, Dickson, McClure, Trimble, Tolmie, Carswell, Duncan, Cochrane, Denness, and Ash.

RECEIPTS.—Dr. Powell, in pursuance of notice, moved that the House fix a day to consider the matter of reciprocity with the United States. Wednesday next was fixed.

BREACH OF PRIVILEGE.—Dr. Dickson, as chairman of the committee to inquire into the question of privilege as regards the letter of alleged intimidation forwarded to the member for Lake District by Dr. Ash, presented the report to the effect that the honorable member in question did commit a breach of privilege, and must therefore be punished.

Dr. Ash, in a few brief words, which were scarcely audible at the reporters' table, was understood to tender the requisite apology.

BANK ACT.—Messrs. DeCosmos, Tolmie and Duncan were appointed a select committee to consider the propriety of limiting the issue of bank notes as suggested in Mr. Duncan's proposed bill.

PETITIONS.—Dr. Trimble observed that the House took very little notice of the petitions laid on the table. Wednesday was fixed to discuss the petitions.

UNION.—Mr. McClure's resolutions, upon which the House had pronounced an opinion in Committee came up.

Mr. Cochrane objected to the clause relating to the responsibility of government and the stipulations generally.

Mr. McClure said that the tenor of the resolutions was that the House was willing to accept any constitution the Home Government might think proper to adopt, by measures which would be endorsed by the people here.

Mr. Tolmie said that everyone in the colony desired union, but he hoped that honorable members would vote for striking out the stipulating clauses.

The resolutions were carried.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.—The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, Dr. Powell in the chair.

Dr. Dickson wished to know what was to be done with a debtor proposed to leave the country with money enough to discharge his liabilities in his pocket, he was anxious that some provision should be made to protect the creditor.

Dr. Helmecken said that it would be advisable for hon. members to agree as to the general principle of the bill. It was perhaps imperfect in some of the details, but it would be better to pass it as it stood. There was a similar bill which would be referred to them from the Upper House.

Mr. DeCosmos was of opinion that the bill was not a reason why it should be rejected.

Dr. Helmecken thought some means should be adopted to prevent people abruptly departing by the steamer without paying their just debts. It was essential that something should be done to render such a fraud difficult.

Mr. McClure said the present system was altogether unworkable. There was very little trouble in a dishonest man getting away from the colony, because he would not be bound by the laws of the colony in relation to the discharge of his debts.

Dr. Dickson did not think that the bill would pass the other House. If all the bills were abolished rascality would be lessened on a large scale.

It implied rather an inferiority in the subject when his character was to be modified by a man of different nationality (hear, hear). This, however, was not the only fallacy of the hon. gentleman. He tells us first that if the foreigners had been allowed to vote very different results would have occurred. That the opinions of the foreigners are in no way represented—and then in almost the next breath we are told that nearly all our legislation, the Homestead Bill, the Lien Law, the Abolition of Imprisonment for Debt, and so on, is taken from foreigners (laughter). Well, this, he was bound to say, was peculiar logic—to state that the foreigners' ideas have no echo in the legislation of the country and then to show that the country adopted their ideas (laughter). Supposing, however, the foreigners voted, and they imparted a character to the politics of the country, might Vancouver Island not be brought to that dreadful political catastrophe which only two days ago deeply affected the Speaker—the election of its own Governor (laughter)? There were again different classes of foreigners—there were the Chinese. Did the hon. Speaker intend to say that these worthy Celestials were to be allowed to form the national character of the country? (laughter) Or would he merely bring them in as counterweights to the democratic American, and still have his favorite "two steps backwards" mental disposition (laughter). Mr. McClure really thought the hon. gentleman had got a little ahead of the age. There could be no doubt that the world would some day come to a happy equality in political privileges. At present he thought, however, that it was too premature, and the Speaker had taken much too desperate a leap into the future. (Hear, hear.)

Dr. Ash did not agree with the amendment as it would tend to increase the number of foreigners in the colony. He thought the Speaker had taken much too desperate a leap into the future. (Hear, hear.)

Dr. Helmecken repudiated the notion of retrograding towards despotism. He did not desire to throw open electoral privileges to every one who landed on these shores. They should all possess a property qualification. He did not wish it to be understood that foreigners were superior to ourselves, he merely insisted that they were equal. Voters should be able to read and write. With reference to the annexation that would be effectually settled by Her Majesty's Government whether such should be the case.

Mr. DeCosmos, in alluding to the hon. Speaker's remarks about foreigners' rights to vote, said that he would advocate any reform that could be made to assimilate with the existing system. In reference to our neighbors he was not aware of any territory where the residents were entitled to vote unless they became American citizens. In Australia in the old days he knew that foreigners could vote after a residence of 60 days, but then they were compelled to take the oath of allegiance. If foreigners were permitted to vote they should be allowed to hold office (hear, hear). The hon. gentleman continued at some length to refute Dr. Helmecken's position, but we are sorry our space will not admit of giving the speech in full.

Dr. Helmecken thought the discussion would do good. Every one who could speak the English language should have a vote.

Mr. McClure thought the hon. gentleman committed at the very end of his speech a fallacy, and the public generally, that he would use the above establishment with a view to the selection of WINES, SPIRITS, CIGARS, &c., and he trusts that by keeping a direct table, and carefully studying the wants of his customers, to merit a share of patronage.
